Injured By Lightning.

Miller Kiser, aged 14 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kiser of near Kiserston, had a narrow escape from death during the heavy wind and electrical storm which passed over that section of the county Saturday afternoon. Young Kiser had been to town during the afternoon and had returned home. Going to the barn he unthatched his horse and was going across the barn lot toward his home when a bolt of lightning struck a tree some distance from him. The force of the bolt stunned the boy and for a time he was thought to be seriously injured. Dr. Rankin of Shawan was summoned and administered to his injuries which were found to be very slight and he rapidly recovered from the shock. A lantern he was carrying and which is supposed to have acted as a conductor for the lightning was torn to pieces.

Master's Sale of Bourbon Farm.

Auctioneer M. F. Kenney sold for Master Commissioner Mann yesterday at the court house door the Joshua Barton farm four miles from Millersburg containing 177 acres to S. M. Berry at $84.25 per acre. Also at the same time Auctioneer Kenney sold for Master Commissioner Mann the Grigsby farm near the Fayette line containing 34 acres to J. V. Grigsby at $127 per acre.

Elder Morgan's First Lecture.

Elder Carey E. Morgan delivered the first of his series of three lectures on Friday night at the high school auditorium. The lecture consisted of an entertaining talk about his recent trip from Boston via the Azores, Madera, Gibraltar, Rome and the Mediterranean to Egypt, and was illustrated with one hundred pictures made by Elder Morgan himself with a kodak. Before making the trip Elder Morgan had never had any experience in photography. Securing a kodak from Mr. Henry Terrill he had the working explained to him in detail and succeeded in securing over three hundred photographs in no way inferior to those made by experts. An immense audience greeted Elder Morgan in the opening number of the series and all were highly pleased with the entertaining description of his travels. The second lecture of the series will be given at High School auditorium on Friday evening, October 7.

Stabbed While Defending Brother.

In a difficulty on Fourteenth street Sunday, Edward Herrin was slashed across the right shoulder and stabbed below the shoulder blade by Press Lannum, a negro. Herrin was taken in the office of a physician, where his wounds were dressed. Although painfully wounded, he is not thought to be in a serious condition.

Herrin was coming into the city on a street car, when he noticed his brother, Thomas Herrin, in a heated argument with Lannum and another negro, and left the car to go to his brother's defense, when he was set upon and cut.

Lannum was arrested at his home in the suburb of Claysville, by Chief of Police J. C. Elgin, and lodged in jail. A charge of cutting with intent to kill was placed against him. Herrin was taken to his home on South Main street.

Yesterday Lannum was arraigned in Police Court and his examining trial set for Thursday. He was released on bond in the sum of $300 with W. A. Bacon as surety.

Gossip Shortens Life. "Read good books and don't gossip about your neighbors," is the advice Mrs. Jane Beam, of Patterson, N. J., gives to those who wish to achieve a happy old age. She is now 102 and happy and she declares that in all her life she has never talked ill of anyone, tasted liquor or done anything of which she should be ashamed. Seven books has contributed much to her happiness and she reads these constantly.

Mrs. Beam was born in Rangoon, N. J., September 1, 1808. Her husband and children are all dead and her great grandchildren are now ministering to her wants, which are few.

"Ever since I was a little girl I liked to read," says Mrs. Beam. "I've read Dickens and Thackeray and the newspapers and believe they have done me much good. But the book that has helped me most is the Bible. In addition Surgeon's Sermons, Philosophy, the Pennsylvania Pilgrim, the Unnoticed Things in Scripture and the Holy Land are the books that have helped me reach my present age."

Action Postponed.

A northern journal referring to the action of the Grand Army of the Republic in its session at Atlantic City, postponing action in regard to the placing of a statue of General Robert E. Lee, in the capitol, says:

"The Grand Army of the Republic, at its recent session at Atlantic City, indefinitely postponed action regarding the controversy incident to placing a statue of General Lee in the Capitol at Washington. While the number of delegates voting represented but a little more than a fourth of the total number present, the remaining delegates must have silently acquiesced in the decision of the majority voting. The vote stood 123 to 102, and 887 delegates were present."

"The action taken is not interesting to the public as regards detail of vote, so much as from the policy pursued. The blue and the gray had marched together, and had fraternized as never before. The statue to be erected was in honor of the hero of the 'lost cause,' a man who believed as did the men who followed him and obeyed his commands, at that cause was just. He was a leader who had the courage of his convictions, and his generalship placed him among the noted military geniuses of the world. He is today bigger than his cause, in that his name is still recognized, even by the men who wore the blue.

"Then again, General Lee died a citizen of a reunited country—a country which honors its heroes, and its truly great men. Honoring him would not revive his cause, nor admit its justness. It might, however, bring North and South into still closer bonds of fellowship and union, and without detracting one iota from the homage paid to the heroes of the North. Right here, it may be cited, that a British soldier each and every day, fires a shot over the spot where an American hero fell before the walls of Quebec two hundred years ago. The whole British nation honors itself by thus honoring that hero."

Doped Candy.

A vast quantity of cheap candy is consumed in this country. As a rule cheap candy is adulterated, the cheapest grade of raw chocolate used for coating costs about 30 cents a pound, and it stands to reason that, the cost of other ingredients and of manufacture considered, pure "chocolate" candy can not be sold at a price much less than the cost of coating. As a matter of fact the coating of cheap "chocolate" candy contains very little chocolate, and some not at all. Some coatings are a concoction of bark, varnish and other things.

Analysis of candies offered for sale in a certain city showed mineral substances for weight, poisonous colorings, and glucose for sweetening, while others contain glue, varnish and other deleterious substances. These candies were pronounced by chemists and physicians to be harmful to children, a fact sustained by several hospital cases. One child had lost all of her teeth, and became almost imbecile; another was anaemic; and still another was covered with eruptions that refused to yield to treatment. "Cheap candy," declared one physician, "is responsible for many a ruined stomach, and wrecked nervous system."

While good candy eaten moderately is harmless, indeed satisfies the craving of children for something sweet, cheap candy does not do so. The more eaten, the more wanted, and the reason lies in the effort of the digestive organs to throw off the dope taken into the system. If parents fully understood this physiological effect they would certainly give their children good candy, or none at all. Far better would it be for them to give their children home-made candies, or just plain loaf sugar with a drop or two of harmless flavoring.

Business Failures.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending September 29 were 211, against 190 last week, 195 in the like week of 1909, 225 in 1908 and 177 in 1907.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The question of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailling remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

Have You Tried It?

There is a bottle of Cardui waiting for you at the drug store. Have you tried it?

If not, we urge you to do so, before your troubles have obtained such a hold on you, that nothing will drive them out.

Even now, it may be nearly too late. But try it anyhow. If anything can help you, Cardui will. It has helped in thousands of cases, where other medicines had been tried in vain. Why should it not do the same for you?

Take CARDUIThe Woman's Tonic

"My daughter, Octavia, would have been in her grave today, had it not been for that fine medicine, Cardui," writes Mrs. Laura Lawrence, of Drennon Springs, Ky.

"Nothing I tried helped my daughter, until she had taken Cardui. I had sent for the doctor, when I thought of your medicine and got a $1 bottle. When she had taken four doses she became all right. I often recommend Cardui to my friends."

Your druggist sells Cardui with full instructions for use on the bottle.

Paris Loses Another Player.

Ora Williams, the star twirler of the Paris Base Ball Club has been drafted by the Toledo Club of the American Association. He was secured by Paris from the Shelbyville club before the franchise was sold to Mayville and was brought to the Blue Grass League by Manager Collins when he purchased an interest in that club. Williams was looked upon as one of the most promising pitchers in the league and in the last game here between Paris and Lexington pitched a sixteen inning contest against the Colts without allowing a score.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that can't be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Bust of Clay Presented to State.

Louis Kountz, a rich banker of New York, has presented the state with a handsome marble bust of Henry Clay by Hiram Powers, an American sculptor who formerly lived in Cincinnati and Washington. Through the aid of General John Preston in 1837 Powers was enabled to go to Italy to finish his studies in art and died there in 1873. The "Greek Slave" is Powers' most celebrated work and he has made busts of many distinguished Americans, among them John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, Martin Van Buren, Daniel Webster, John Calhoun.

Governor Wilson received a communication from Mr. Kountz presenting the bust to the State. Kountz said that his father was born and reared in Ohio and had always been an ardent admirer of Clay and had three times voted for him for President.

The bust was accepted by Governor Wilson in behalf of the State. It has not been decided where it will be placed but Governor Wilson said that he intended that it should have a most prominent place in the building, where it could be seen by all visitors. A bust of Clay by Joel T. Hart occupies a prominent place in the library and the bust presented by Kountz may be placed in the Senate Chamber.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

Total receipts of live stock on the Chicago market week ending Sept. 24 were 67,200 cattle, 65,500 hogs and 182,300 sheep. This week's receipts, compared with the previous week, in round numbers decreased 2,000 cattle, 19,600 hogs, and increased 47,400 sheep. Compared with the corresponding week of 1909 there was an increase of 4,190 cattle a decrease of 16,100 hogs and an increase of 63,400 sheep.

Only sheep affected with or having exposed to the scabies must be dipped. This opinion was given Thursday by Attorney General Breathitt to the Livestock Sanitary Board, which met in Frankfort. Drs. F. L. Bertam of Cincinnati, and A. L. Payne of Washington, met with the board and discussed methods of eradicating the scabies so that the quarantine will be lifted from the sheep in this State. Dr. Payne reported that the cattle ill with fever in Woodford county were not afflicted with Texas fever.

Naval Appropriations.

The total estates for the appropriations necessary for the naval service during the next fiscal year were announced to be $128,300,000. This stands against appropriations of $137,913,000 for the fiscal year ended last July and $132,384,000 for the present fiscal year.

Uncle John's Tavern

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Uncle John White had traded a pretty good farm for a pretty good tavern. He had got to be fifty years old and tired of hard work, and he thought tavern keeping easy and profitable. It wasn't six weeks before he learned to the contrary. It was easy enough, for he had nothing to do, but he looked in vain for the profits.

One summer's day Uncle John sat dozing and thinking. It was a hot day, and the town was dead. Nothing buzzed but the flies. Uncle John would have been asleep in five minutes more but for the arrival of a stranger on foot. The arrival was dusty and ragged. If he wasn't a tramp then Uncle John never saw one. He was motioned to go around to the kitchen for a cold bite, but he sat down and said:

"A little business talk with you first, and then I'll take the best room in the house and eat my meals in the dining room."

"I can't hire no tramps," said Uncle John.

"But it may be that I shall hire you. Lead the way."

The fellow had a compelling way with him. Uncle John led the way upstairs, and he picked up his bundle and followed. As they entered a room he locked the door on them and then sat down for a talk.

When the talk was finished he brought shears and razor and cut the stranger's hair and shaved him. Then the old bundle was opened and a fairly decent suit brought out. What it lacked was supplied by mine host. Result—a decent looking guest instead of a disreputable tramp. He appeared downstairs just after the train came in, and Mrs. White thought he came by. So did the villagers who straggled in after supper for a glass of beer and bit of gossip. John Taylor had arrived—best room in the house—paid a week in advance—no doubt a man of means—was mum as to his business—probably had some big enterprise on hand. It was two weeks before the nature of that enterprise was learned. Uncle John had to sell a horse first, and advertisements had to be written and placed. It was also necessary for the editor of the local paper to make a writeup. The advertisement inserted in various newspapers read:

"A would be philanthropist stands ready to make gift of $1,000,000 for the best interests of society, but would like personal advice. No letters. Shall it be colleges, schools, asylums, hospitals, homes or gifts to widows?"

Then the name of Mr. Taylor and the village were given. Uncle John was running a ten room tavern—that is, only ten out of the forty rooms were furnished. He bought, hired and borrowed furniture for the other thirty rooms. He bought crockery and cutlery and hired a cook and a waiter. He ordered extra kegs of beer and raised his rates from $1 a day to just double. It took sand to do it. Mrs. White was not let into the secret, and she almost went crazy.

One day ten strangers got off at the depot and asked for Taylor. The next day there were twenty. On the third day Uncle John had to distribute his guests around among the villagers. He was here, there and everywhere, looking for judgment day. As for Mr. Taylor, he was cool—cool and smiling. He had office hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. He gave each "patient" one hour. That made eight per day. The rule was rigid, and the others must wait. Therefore a comer might have to wait five or six days for his interview. Meanwhile he had to eat and sleep and pay $2 per day.

Strangers who knew just how that million ought to be expended to do the world the most good kept coming by every train. There was no other tavern; there was no other place in town where beer and cigars were sold. Colleges, hospitals, asylums and every sort of public institution sent representatives. Politicians came to get that million to start reform. Men came who wanted to found new religions. Widows wanted cash, and townships and counties wanted highway improvements. For two months they came and went. They slept where they could and ate what was set before them. Then the tide began to turn out, and there was more advertising. This time the advertisement read:

"Any inventor having a good thing or any person having an idea that can be turned into cash will find man and money ready."

And then it was the rush all over again. Inventors brought their models, and there was a barn full of them. Others brought their ideas, and they were too numerous to be listed. For five long months Uncle John's tavern hadn't a room or a place at the table to spare. Then along came a man to buy him out.

"Sell and get out," advised Mr. Taylor.

The advice was followed.

"Now we will figure up and whack up."

It was done. Mrs. White smiled. Uncle John rubbed his hands, and the stranger grinned. Uncle John's tavern has a new name and a new proprietor now. It is not a forty room tavern any more. It is a five room one, and the new man sits on the veranda looking for tramps, but looking in vain.

James E. Clay Sale.

The first day of the sale of personal property of the late James E. Clay, on Friday, was a success from every standpoint.

The sale, which was conducted by Samuel Clay, administrator, was in the hands of Auctioneers Geo. E. Speakes and M. F. Kenney. Thoroughbreds, trotters, mules, jennets, jennets and sheep comprised the offerings.

The sale was attended by one of the largest crowds of prospective purchasers ever seen at a sale in Central Kentucky, buyers being present in large numbers from all over Central Kentucky, besides a quota of horsemen from other States.

Thoroughbred mares, yearlings and colts sold at low prices, while trotters and mules brought good figures.

The aged brood mare, Marchmont Belle 2:23 $\frac{1}{4}$, by Baron Wilkes, dam of Clay Belle 2:18 $\frac{1}{4}$, Edna Earl 2:19 $\frac{1}{4}$, and Emily Tee 2:23 $\frac{1}{4}$, went to Arthur Hancock for \$1.30.

Clay Belle, by Bow Bells 2:19 $\frac{1}{4}$, dam by Baron Wilkes, sold to E. L. Featherson for \$225, and a foal by her side by Wiggins, to the same party for \$100.

Zora Belle, by Bow Bells, to Arthur Hancock, for $405, and foal by Wiggins to Asa Duley, of Clark county, for $122.50.

Edna Earl, by Wiggins, went to Walnut Hall Stock Farm, $410.

Emily Tee, by Jay Bird, dam of Sheeney 2:15 $\frac{1}{2}$, to Walnut Hall Stock Farm, \$50.

Sister Edith, full sister to Katherine A., sold to Charlton Clay, for $200.

Wigman, by Wiggins, to same purchaser, for $400.

The aged stallion, Wiggins, by Aberdean, same, $200.

"The Sixth Commandment" at Lexington.

The attraction at the Lexington opera house for three nights and Saturday matinee, commencing Thursday, October 6, will be a remarkable play entitled "The Sixth Commandment" which deals with one of the most vital questions of the day, race suicide. The author, Robert McLaughlin, who was the personal protege and personal secretary of the late President William McKinley, acknowledges that he received the inspiration for his drama from ex-President Roosevelt, whose utterances on this subject have been quoted all over the world.

The story deals with the substitution of a baby boy from an orphan asylum for a real heir of a wealthy New Yorker who wants a child to perpetuate his name and carry on his work. He had been childless because of the selfishness of his wife. Finally, when she sees that he is so anxious to have an heir, she so schemes that while he is away on a prolonged business trip she adopts this infant and makes him believe that it is their own child. As it is afterwards learned, the child is really the offspring of her own brother and her husband's niece. The real mother of the child falls heirless to a large fortune and the worthless father then offers to right the wrong. She realizes that his motive is to get her money, but decides to marry him for the sake of her child, and the selfish woman, who had adopted the child, loses faith and trust of her husband. The play closes with all terrible denunciation of the selfish childless wife by her embittered husband.

The play is splendidly cast with metropolitan players, and promises to create no end of discussion. It is probably the most daring play ever staged in this country, but at the same time the theme is handled with delicacy. All mail order for seats accompanied by remittance will receive prompt attention.

Register Today.

The annual registration of voters in this city will be held today from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m., and all citizens who are not actually and continuously out of town between those hours or who are not confined at home by illness must register at their precinct voting place or lose their right to vote in the November election or those of other coming year. In November the Democrats will be called upon to stand by the nominee of the party in the Congressional race and Paris and Bourbon county should give the Democratic candidate the united support of the party in the county. Every Democrat should be sure to register and remind your neighbor. Nothing will have a more depressing effect upon the Republicans than to get out a full registration. Remember the polling places will be open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Well Improved Farm.

Mr. J. W. Prescott will offer at public sale his farm of 264 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres on the North Middletown pike on Tuesday, October 4. The farm is well improved and has on it a two story frame dwelling of eight rooms, hall, pantry and porches. The farm is convenient to churches and schools. At the same time a lot of household and kitchen furniture will be offered at public auction.

New

Fall Millinery

Now On Display

A beautiful and as carefully selected collection of hats as ever graced our millinery parlors at the beginning of the season.

It is really an exposition of European and American ideas. You will agree with us that these hats vie in beauty and originality with those that come from abroad and which are marked much higher.

Fifth Avenue at its best, cannot eclipse our showing of Fall Millinery.

Quality Considered, Our Prices Are Lower Than Found Elsewhere.
